Veer-Zaara is a 2004 Indian Hindi-language period epic romantic drama film directed by Yash Chopra, who co-produced it with his son Aditya Chopra. It was released on August 7, 2004. That day, an earthquake in Kashmir, although it is a civilian time, took the lives of millions. The earthquake has damaged the buildings and livelihood in the valley. But Veer and Zaara, like any ordinary hero and heroine, never stops living for love. Veer has to have a full life in his country, the country that has rejected him and so. They both decide to travel to Pakistan and enter the country illegally from the Iran border by a car. The movie was released on August 7, 2004.
